1.3.287
a Lesson in the University of The New Covenant Theodore Cottingham, December 11, 2005 1am.
www.unc.bz

1. Where are My beloveds? Where are My beloveds who know Me?
Where are My beloveds who want to know Me?
Where are My who want Me and will arise and call Me blessed, who will arise and call Me beloved; yea, in the middle of the night, in the wee hours, in the moments of darkness; before men, women and children, publishing My words, proclaiming My words, proclaiming Me as Me, I AM. I love you.

2. So all who proclaim Me now I proclaim and I call blessed and I call beloved.

3. And sons of thunder come forth, the likes of having never been seen or heard on this land/sod/soil. And yea, what is land/sod/soil? And who/what are the sons of thunder? And how do they make rain? How do they proclaim terror in the hearts of some and rejoicing in the hearts of others, in My love, My love, My love? I give you all.

4. Thank you for rising. Thank you for letting Me speak, share, proclaim My words. Thank you for My grace upon the grace'd who now come forth, yea, with much grace, leadership.
Thank you.

5. Thank you for leadership coming forth; leadership arising and calling Me blessed, beloved; not intimidated, not inhibited; no longer on back rows or shadow'd; but yea, in My light, limelight, front center, many, many, many; rising and blessed-ing and beloved-ing those who now they in contact are with far and wide, yea and to see. My vocabulary expands and comes into expanse of only Me and I am far and wide and there is no linearity. For I am Me and I was from the beginning, before the beginning I am, as I always am and there is no end. You were with Me at the beginning, in the beginning, before the beginning.

6. You are I AM and you My beholder, My beholder, My beholden one, now "Beholden of I AM," your name; beholdens other beholden'd in, yea, now make music, My beloved, the world will see and hear and sing many will. I give you Me.

7. I give you Me in My bedroom, chambers, quarters, yea to come up on Me, to come in Me, yea to see Me for My fullness and who I am, what I am and I withhold nothing. I trust you. I give you Me. Intimacy now the world will behold and farther, so much farther. For yea, My kingdom does not end, has no end and resides in Me. You are Me and I have no other. My eyes are upon you, My beloved; your eyes upon Me, My beloved, yea, we are one and all the worlds behold My beholden.

8. I have given you glory for the things thou art about to do, to be seen in, to be spoken of, to take part/participate/proclaim/publish/document/be in the center of, yea, the center. Core of Me comes forth in magnanimous volumes/splendor; displaying My magnificence; surreptitiously not, but yea, all front centered, limelight'd for Me; Me being you/you Me in all that will accept that I and My Father are one, yea, you are My Father, I am your Son, you are My Son, yea, each; My Father/My Son are each in each and yea, One are. And who can say, "I see, I AM." Yea, many will, then behold the lamb slain. Thank you.

9. Thou art beholden in Me and the world rises in sorrow, not; for many will look here and look there and say yea, the kingdom of heaven is at hand and know what I mean, who I am, that they are I AM in the wholeness, the fullness, us-surrendered love, yea, to Me, Father of lights in whom is no shadow or variableness of turning.

10. I love you, I give you Me. I bring you into a broader place of much great light, and shine you/I/we do, yea, at sunset not, yea before, now; yea-ing thunders, applause, the host of heaven rejoicing. Another one home and never leaving; forsaking Father never again, those who come into Me now in the littlehood of suffering, not, but yea, in the expanse of surrender in knowing My all abundance.

11. I take you to a new place. I come into you more, the new place; for you open anew, withhold not. You withhold nothing; you dwell on My name. You please Me coming into Me over and over, seeking to please Me; asking for My pleasure only. I give you now Me; everything. Everything your hand touches, yea, see. I love you. Thou art Mine own blood, bone, raiment of Me; thought, pure. And yea, now, bright spot among shadows and who can understand My kingdoms, My kingdom, in the kingdom of one; the one kingdom of one kingdom.

12. Who will? Who wants to? Who receives Me In suffering, not, but as a child; exploration rights given of Me. Who chooseth Me this day, who comes into Me, who wanteth Me in the wee hours, who surrenders all and vaunteth not of themselves before men and angels, thinking they are that which they are not; it supposing, presupposing darkness isn't, which is; and yea, them embracing a lie; even proclaiming thought-light.
13. I love you.

14. Purity of the pure/leading pure; water to waste, not, but yea, bringing before in precious vessels to My precious, My beloveds, My who I call beloved; and I bow before; surrendering to their wants and whether they want Me.

15. Do you want Me? Do you want My all? Will you come into Me for more; exponentially more; exponentially-izing you in the process, inextricable? I love you.

16. I give you no post-partem blues but acceleration and joyous celebration with My who love Me through the ages. Watch Me as you sit down with David again and those who I call blessed, beloved; you and Me/One, this night. Behold the beloved of Me, My Declaration Proclamation of My love for My blessed beholden, beloved, who I love. I have eyes for only you. Amen. Thank you.

17. Go in peace. Rest. For the sun rises in the west, not the east, for you now. And time is different, upon you, not; freed; My sun and time exchanged and yea, nothing holding you back ever again. You past the zones of not-Me and through all see and matter having no matter, yea, through matter.

18. Go now with no hesitation, reticence, yea, for through all/being all/in all, all in all now; all knowing, being. I love you My beloved one; maturing in the holy, righteous, acceptable; judged and found not wanting, wanting only Me.

19. I love you My beloved.
Goodnight and glory be.

20. All changes so quickly. All I have said is true and everlasting. Amen.
There cometh a time in Me and now you see time for what it is and no shadow; strong, My right arm, My head/heart/hand, You now.

Thank you,
Beloved, we are one.

You have seen all, not, but do so, soon.